THURSDAY, MAR. 10, 1898

We wish the Mayor would declare the dust, that made life a burden yesterday, "null and void." There will be no appeal from such a decision.

PRESIDENT MCKINLEY and Consul-General Lee have both smelled powder. They know what war means. The honor of the nation is safe in their hands.

SOME people are born kickers. Thus we hear complaints that the President did not call for $100,000,000 instead of only half that sum. We wonder where these warlike people will be when the call for troops is issued.

THE vote on the Goebel election bill when it comes back to the Legislature adorned with the Governor's veto, will show what members have the courage to stand by their convictions and those who are willing to be the plant tools of a conscienceless political boss. It will be a rare test of manhood, but many there will be who will be found wanting.

THE intentions of those Democrats who are calling on ex-Governor Brown to announce as a candidate for the governorship at the hands of the Democracy, are doubtless honorable; but they are wasting their time, the cards being already stacked for Senator Goebel, and at the proper time the free silver czar of Kentucky will assemble himself in convention and declare himself nominated—and then the fun will begin.

GAG RULE.

The action of the Kentucky State Senate yesterday in amending the rules so as to allow only thirty minutes debate on any measure that may be indicated by the Committee on Rules is the most partisan action of the partisan majority of the Legislature. It has turned over to Senator Goebel and his followers the absolute control of the Senate proceedings during the remainder of this session. The adoption of this gag rule shows how desperate and high handed the Goebellites are. In their eyes the Democracy of Kentucky is merely a tool to be used to advance Senator Goebel's personal ambitions. Although the record of Goebel fails to show one single reason why he, rather than any other Democrat, should be the Democratic nominee for Governor, yet he has been able to subordinate every act of this Legislature to his presumptuous ambition. The passage of the Goebel Election bill may make its author the Democratic nominee for Governor, but it will not elect him before the people.

The voters of Kentucky are not so many sheep to be driven to the support of any man or measure. If the history of the past few years in this state demonstrates any one thing beyond the shadow of a doubt, it is that the people of the state cannot be whipped into line by any one man or set of men. The voters of Kentucky think for themselves and will resist as they have done in times past, any attempt of the bosses to control their individual action. The Goebellites know this, but they hope to be able by means of the machinery put in their hands by the infamous Election Commission measure, to override the will of the people.

A few years ago when the so-called Force bill was under discussion in Congress, no people were more outspoken or felt themselves more outraged than did the men who are now endeavoring to fasten upon the people of Kentucky the Goebel bill. The Force bill did guarantee a fair and free count, but this bill has not one iota of fairness in its whole composition, and is simply partisanship run mad, and the embodiment of fraud and corruption.

THE GOVERNOR AND THE LAW To paraphrase one of Grover Cleveland's succinct sayings, the present Legislature "has a Governor on its hands" and none who knows more of law than any of the leaders of the Democratic majority at Frankfort. Thus while the free silverites conspire the Governor reads law. Now that the Prison Commission bill has become a law, apparently, the Governor calls attention to section 93 of the constitution, which provides that "inferior state officers not specifically provided for in this constitution may be elected," etc., "for a term not exceeding four years." As a part of the proposed prison commission is to be elected for six years according to the terms of the bill it would seem that a constitutional snag has been struck, which kills the law.

The Governor has also called attention to another innocent little section of the constitution, which would of itself render both the Prison Commission law inoperative and the Goebel Election bill also should it become a law. Section 55 of the constitution, provides that after an emergency is declared and the reasons given therefor the act may become a law when approved by the Governor. The Governor having failed to approve the law, it can not go into effect until ninety days after adjournment, thus postponing its effectiveness. No election can be held either the prison commissioners, or election commissioners until the laws go into effect, which will not be until ninety days after the Legislature adjourns, and the machinery for carrying the two acts into effect can not be provided until the meeting of the next legislature in 1900.

Whether or not the Governor's reasoning be correct his suggestions have already given the Democrats at Frankfort a regular Klondike chill.

Society Gossip

Tuesday evening at her home on North Seventh street Miss Laura Saunders entertained a few of her friends in a very pleasant fashion. Games were played and a delightful lunch served, and when at a late hour the guests departed it was with a very grateful feeling to their hostess for making the evening so enjoyable.

The West End Crokinole club met with Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Elliott Tuesday evening. The club prizes were captured by Mrs. P. H. Stewart, and Dr. W. C. Eubanks. The crokinole prize by Mrs. W. C. Eubanks, and the booby by Dr. P. H. Stewart. The evening was enjoyed by all present.

The Magazine club is meeting this afternoon with Mrs. James Campbell. Several very good reports are expected from the members of the club.

Yesterday afternoon at her pretty home on Jefferson and Eighth, Mrs. Robt. Reeves gave a most delightful euchre party to her many friends. Mrs. Weille won the first prize and Mrs. Schwartzberger both the second and third prizes. Among these present were: Mesdames Louis Levy, Lloyd Boswell, B. Weille, McGary, Bloom, B. Weille, Jr., Henry Weill, Ed Atkins, Capt. Kogor, Schwartzberger, Kingsbury, M. Livingston, Joe Friedman, Robt. Phillips, John Hobson, Misses Geraldine Sanders, Cornelia Grundy, Alice Sanders, Blanch Bloom, May K. Sowell, Mary Boswell, Nannie Johnson, and Ruth Weill. A most enjoyable lunch was served after the game and the evening was declared by all to be one of the most pleasant of the season.

Messrs. Sid and Fletcher Terrell left yesterday on a business trip to Chicago and East.

Mr. Will Noble has gone to Hot Springs.

Mrs. G. D. Palmer has returned from New York, after a visit to her brother, Prof. Albert G. Reed.

The wedding was a very quiet affair only a few of their relatives being present and immediately after the ceremony they left on an extended trip. After their return they will be at home to their many friends on Court street. Congratulations.

One of our charming young society girls is soon to be married to a bright young musical gentleman who made Paducah his home last year. The exact date is not yet set for the coming nuptials.

The Pittsburg Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, believed some time ago that they had discovered the oldest living daughter of the war of independence. She is Margaretta Gardner, of Indiana county. She is the daughter of a soldier, and is close to ninety-six years of age. She is living a strangely secluded life in a log cabin on the outskirts of Purchase Lane, Pa. It is said that the cabin was built by her father in the early part of this century. It stands among trees of great age.

His father, James Gardner, came from Ireland when very young and made his way to Princeton, N. J., during the revolution, and when Gen. Putnam held the town the lad joined the patriot forces, and was with the army until the end of the war. At Yorktown after the war he learned the tailor trade in Philadelphia, and in after life boasted that he had made a suit of clothes for General Washington.

He purchased the business, but it was burned out before it was paid for, and the loss bankrupted him. He went west and established the first tailor shop in Indiana. Soon afterward he was crippled by being thrown from a horse. Then with his family he moved to Purchase Lane and built the log cabin in which his daughter now lives.

Dr. Will Saunders moved his family back to the country, to their pretty summer home in Arcadia. Dr. Saunders will still keep office hours in town.

MOIRE VELOURS FOR EVENING. Moire velour in pale, delicate colorings, is exceedingly fashionable for evening wear, and in this material pinks, both of rose and salmon hues, and white in cream or ivory are especially attractive.

A dainty yellow, somewhat paler than daffodil, and rather deeper than primrose, is also much in favor, usually trimmed with violets or purple pansies or orchids of iris in shades of purple and heliotrope.

On a pink gown, black lace of the light open type is most useful and effective, and this combination is shown in a gown where black insertion lace forms stripes down the skirt, which is finished with fans of lace and bows of moire. The skirt is tightly trained with close sides, and the bodice is also tight-fitting, but has a pouched front striped with lace. The sleeves consist of a small puff of moire, with two trills of lace nearly covering the puff, and the neck and front have an arrangement of lace and traces of handsome jet passementerie forming a square. This makes a charming dinner toilet and long transparent sleeves can be added and the neck partially filled in with folds of tulle or chiffon, if desired.

Just what the skirts of real summer wear will be made of has not yet been revealed. Pique and duck, so highly favored for two summer seasons, will not be considered the ultra-fashionable the coming summer. Of this much I am quite certain: Black and gray poplin skirts will have a decided vogue. I am rather inclined to think poplin will be the one fabric of all others in the lead for the everyday summer skirt. It is an excellent material, for it sheds dust, does not spot when sprinkled, and if sponged before making up, will not shrink.

About the old story of the camel—how three philosophers heard about the animal and determined to investigate. The Englishman hunted through the folios of the British Museum, to find what had been said about the beast; the German went into his study, locked the door, lit his pipe and began to evolve a conception of the animal from his own consciousness; the Frenchman went down to Sahara to see.

CAPT. THAD CONANT DEAD.

A Well Known River Man, Formerly of Paducah, Dies at Evansville.

Would Have Been Seventy Years Old Today—Formerly River Editor of the Paducah Standard.

After an illness of only a few days Capt. Thad Conant, for years identified with the interests of Evansville, died at his bachelor apartments on Upper Second street at 11:30 o'clock this morning.

Capt. Conant contracted a severe cold several days ago, which, with his advanced age, proved too much for his constitution. He was confined to his bed since last Thursday and no hopes for his recovery were entertained.

Capt. Conant lived in Evansville at different times. He came here the last time eight years ago and announced his intention of making the city his permanent home.

At one time Capt. Conant was the river editor of the Evansville Courier and later held a similar position on the Evansville Standard.

He was a brother of William Conant, deceased, who conducted the steamboat agency on Water street, which is now in charge of George Conant. Mr. Conant made his headquarters at the boat office and was one of the best known men on the river.

He was public spirited and charitable and was regarded as one of the foremost men of the town. He was never married, but leaves a number of relatives, most of whom reside in this city.

Capt. Conant, the deceased, also resided in Paducah eight or ten years ago, and was river editor of the Standard. He had the peculiarity of interspersing his paragraphs with scriptural quotations, and was prominent in river circles while here. He is remembered by all the river men.

No arrangements have yet been made for the funeral.

Will Perhaps Be Required to Refund the City Bonds.

Mr. Coffin, of Roberts & Co., Returns to New York to Complete Arrangements.

Mr. W. E. Coffin, of Roberts & Co., New York, who came here to arrange to refund the city bonds, left last night for New York to complete the deal.

The refunding process will require perhaps two or three months. First the lithographs will have to be made. The 145 bonds will then have to be printed, and sent to the city to be signed by the mayor and other officials, and then re-shipped to New York.

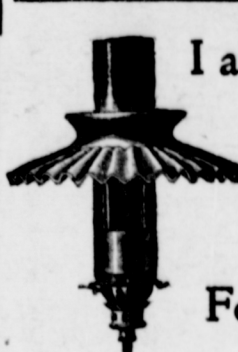

The old bonds will then have to be called in and paid off and destroyed.

Mr. Walter B. Palmer, an agent of the United States Dept. of Labor, is in the city, and is temporarily installed in the U. S. District Attorney's office in the government building.

Mr. Palmer arrived last evening, and will likely be here several days, as he has much work before him. He is here to collect statistics on the Water works, Electric plant, and all the public institutions, and began work today. The report that is to be compiled from the statistics will not be issued from the department for about a year.

Mr. Palmer was seen by a SUN reporter, but declined to talk. He said his visit was of no interest to the public, and that he had been cautioned against talking for publication, and for that reason would make no statement. He has been to several other cities in the state.

Grand Reproduction... Of the Explosion of the Battleship Maine... Noah's Ark Tomorrow

Will be given at Noah's Ark tomorrow (Friday) at 4 p. m. sharp. The magnificent battleship Maine, made out of Noah's Ark soap, in the east window, will be destroyed by a hidden mine similar to that which destroyed our fine battleship in Havana harbor on the night of February 15, 1898, by Spanish treachery. All are invited to witness this grand spectacle, which will be the finest piece of mechanism ever displayed in any show window. The signal for the explosion will be the sounding of eight bells (4 p. m.), so that all may hold themselves in readiness to witness the wonderful feat. This explosion that is to be given tomorrow will be a forerunner to the Great War which Noah's Ark is to make in their store, on Tuesday and Wednesday next, on prices in all lines of goods, to commemorate their birthday in Paducah, on the 15th of March, 1895. The goods are to be almost given away. Their formal opening in the new store will also be on these days, when two thousand souvenirs will be given away to those who kindly favor us with their presence.

P. S.—We wish to explain to our friends that this explosion will not be done by explosives, but worked automatically.

Explains How it Happened.
Mr. C. Durham, I. C. agent at Brooklyn, writes that the real facts in the mysterious disappearance of his brother, Mr. Earl Durham, a day or two ago, are that the young man went away for a day or two, and left a note explaining his absence, which the family failed to find, and which occasioned the fear that he had met with an accident or foul play.

sition from Roberts & Co., of New York, which he said he believed was a good one, and which he thought all the tax payers favored. It is as follows:

"New York, March 9.—To the Mayor and Common Council of the City of Paducah, Ky. Gentlemen—Your city has outstanding $45,000 N. O. & O. R. R. 6 per cent. bonds, subject to call July 1, 1898, and $100,000 C. St. L. & C. 4 1/2 per cent. bonds, subject to call December 1, 1898. We hereby propose to buy of the city one hundred and forty-five thousand ($145,000) dollars of bonds to be issued to refund same. Said refunding bonds to be dated when issued; to mature thirty years from date; to bear four and one-quarter (4 1/4) per cent. interest per annum, evidenced by semi-annual coupons; principal and interest to be paid in New York; said bonds to be issued on lithographed blanks and to be of the denomination of $1000 each.

"We agree to pay for same, par and accrued interest, or at that rate, that is, for each one thousand dollar bond we will pay one thousand dollars and whatever interest may have accrued upon that amount from date of bond to date of delivery to us. Said bonds to be delivered to us or to our assigns in New York City. Delivery to be made as follows: $45,000, 30 year, 4 1/4 per cent. refunding bonds on July 1, 1898. $100,000, 30 year, 4 1/2 refunding bonds on December 1, 1898. The proceeds of the said refunding bonds to be deposited by the city as a special trust fund to be used in payment of bonds to be refunded and for that purpose only.

"Legality and regularity of refunding bonds, all papers pertaining to same, and the details of refunding to be approved by our attorneys. "The city council pledging itself to pass, and the mayor agreeing to sign, all ordinances necessary to the issue of such refunding bonds, and the completion of such refunding; also to furnish our attorneys with certified copies of all papers necessary to establish the legality of said refunding bonds.

"The city council agreeing to pass a resolution to set aside as a sinking fund the $220,000 par value of railroad stocks owned by the city, said sinking fund to be carried as an offset to the city debt and the proceeds of each block of stock when sold to be held as a fund for the retirement of the outstanding bonds.

"We agree to furnish the necessary blank bonds to the city without cost.

"The acceptance of this proposition by resolution of the city council shall constitute a contract between the city and ourselves for the performance of the respective obligations herein referred to."

A resolution conforming to the above was introduced and unanimously adopted. Mr. W. E. Coffin, of New York, representing Roberts & Co.

Councilman Fowler offered a resolution specifying that $220,000 of railroad stocks owned by the city be set aside as a sinking fund asset to be carried as an offset to the city debt. The resolution provides also that the bonds be given as collateral for the bonds refunded. This resolution was also adopted.

Councilman Smith introduced an ordinance fixing the compensation of city tax collector, who is to be elected next month, at 1 per cent. of the first $50,000 collected, 1 1/2 per cent. of the next $25,000 and 3 per cent. of all thereafter collected. The tax collector is to receive 25 per cent. of all polls except those voluntarily paid. The object is to secure better collections, and was given first passage.

The license of Mr. George Detzel was transferred to Rudolph Stecher.
